STATE LIBRARIAN'S REPORT

As I look back over the past biennium one word comes quickly to mind - CHANGE. In recent years, methods of delivering library services have changed, but the concept of basic library services remained fairly constant. During the last two years of the 80's, it became evident that our basic perceptions of libraries and library service were evolving dramatically. Circulation of materials, particularly for reading, continued to be important, but the larger issue of providing "access" to all information and all formats began taking on increased importance. 1988-1990 were watershed years for Vermont libraries, information services, and statewide networking.

At the beginning of the biennium we had just moved into our new quarters in Montpelier. As the dust settled, the reorganization of central services was completed, and the effects of automation were just beginning to have impact on services. By the end of the biennium we had said good-bye to 16mm film and some valued staff members, automation was in full operation, and we were planning yet another reorganization for FY91.

VALS

During these years of rapid change it has been gratifying to see how easily local librarians - and the general public - have adapted to automation, large and small. The Vermont Automated Library System (VALS) continued to expand. In FY88, the links between the major databases at DOL, UVM, Middlebury, and the Vermont State Colleges were completed, making the network a true public-private partnership.

Public libraries were given direct access to VALS, and by June, 1990, 67 public libraries were participating. One of the major incentives to local public library automation was a Department matching grant program begun with $10,000 of a special State General Fund appropriation for FY88. Then in September, 1988, the Ford Foundation and the Harvard Kennedy School of Government chose the Department for one of ten national $100,000 Innovations in State and Local Government Awards for the unique design and operation of VALS. Fifty percent of the award was used for additional public library automation grants, so that the combination of state and private funds could provide matching automation grants for 46 small public libraries.

To insure that every public library in Vermont has access to all VALS databases with one local telephone call and a single search at no local cost, an "800" line was installed. In FY90, Norwich University was added as a fifth major database. School libraries were granted access, and we experimented with New England Telephone Infolook Gateway in anticipation of home and office access by the general public.

Implementation of VALS has been responsible not only for convincing small rural libraries of the usefulness of computers, but also for changing the way libraries communicate with DOL and with each other. Library service to Vermonters moved quickly to "fast forward" and delivery of materials that once took weeks now arrived in days or hours.

PUBLIC LIBRARY DEVELOPMENT

Public library development also moved significantly forward at the end of the decade. A major revision of the Vermont Statutes dealing with public libraries was enacted. More libraries than ever before met the Minimum Standards for Vermont Public Libraries - 97 in FY89 and 102 in FY90. For libraries wanting to reach beyond the minimum, "Envisioning Excellence: Planning the Library's Future" entered its second phase - one of action - in FY89-90. After Board approval of the Task Force Report in June, 1988, a handbook was published and distributed early in FY89.

In winter, 1989, a series of seminars was initiated to help public librarians and trustees develop long range plans. By June, 1990, over 50 public libraries had participated in EE seminars and two, in Sherburne and Woodstock, had completed plans and peer review necessary to be designated as "Envisioning Excellence." Further, new visions for library services to children moved further ahead with the publication and distribution of the revised "Guidelines for Public Library Service to Children in Vermont."

Changes in the library and information world brought new importance and new areas of concern to continuing education for librarians in Vermont. In addition to offerings to upgrade skills in traditional areas of library services, workshops were developed to help libraries deal with technology, with nontraditional patrons, and with literacy. Over 1,000 participants attended over 100 workshops.

1990 was declared the "International Literacy Year" by the United Nations. Literacy initiatives and their impact on Vermont libraries took on new significance. DOL staff worked with the Vermont Reading Project both to initiate programs for new adult readers including Connections and the Family Reading Project and in fall, 1989, to carry out the first statewide conference for adult basic education students and teachers.

ACCESS

Automation, public library development, and literacy issues forced DOL and every public library in Vermont to reexamine the impact of existing library services on all Vermonters. What quickly emerged as the library topic for the next decade was access and removing barriers - physical, financial, educational, and attitudinal. To this end the Board of Libraries passed a policy on free access in FY89. In FY90, the Board created an Access Task Force whose library, government, and citizen members were charged with reviewing all issues of library access and making recommendations to the State Librarian and the Board early in FY92.

Improved access to library service in several communities was furthered in FY89-90 with construction and renovation matching federal grants awarded with Library Services and Construction Act Title II funds. In FY89-90, libraries in Bradford, Colchester, Burlington, Rutland, Richmond, and Brandon received grants to improve their facilities.

BASIC SERVICES

While library services in Vermont met new challenges and took on new initiatives, the department's basic services took on new meaning. The demand for books drove circulation up 35% over the two year period.

Participation in the annual summer reading programs, "Summer Feast" (1988) and "Summer Splash" (1989), continued to grow and reached 144 libraries and 11,000 children each summer. Governor Kunin proclaimed 1989 the "Vermont Year of the Young Reader." In addition to the annual Smith Lectures by Patricia MacLachlan (1988) and Walter Dean Myers (1989), a special celebration YYR program was offered by prominent children's author, Margaret Mahy.

Vermont children voted the Dorothy Canfield Fisher Award be conferred on Gary Paulsen (1989) and on Amy Ehrlich (1990). Travelling exhibits, puppet shows, bibliographies, and program aids continued to be actively distributed to help public libraries statewide with local programming.

During the biennium, DOL staff assisted local public libraries in serving Vermonters of all ages and with a variety of needs. Regional library services were used by more than 200 of the 210 active public libraries. The Adult Services and Children's Services Consultants provided specialized services and resource aids on a variety of subjects including planning, programming, and organizational problems.

Library services to Vermonters with special needs continued at required levels with State and Federal funds. Over 138,000 special materials were circulated to 2,000 plus Vermonters with physical and visual disabilities in the biennium. Outreach continued through meal sites and in cooperation with other social agencies. Library and information services were also provided to the 13 State-supported institutions.

RESOURCE SHARING

With the information explosion of the late 1980's resource sharing among Vermont libraries took on new importance. It is essential that all Vermonters have access to information without bias due to geographic location, age, socioeconomic status, educational attainment, or interest. We continue to appreciate the willingness of all Vermont libraries to work together to make Vermont's statewide resource sharing system one of the most effective in the nation.

The extension of VALS to more than 100 libraries significantly improved response to over 200,000 interlibrary loan requests over the two-year period. In breaking with traditional methods of processing ILL requests, by the end of FY90 over 88% of in-state ILL was accomplished through electronic mail. Direct local access to Supreme Court opinions was also added to VALS for local library and individual use.

Access to materials outside Vermont through OCLC and RLIN satisfied requests for many materials not available within the state. It is interesting, however, that DOL lends to out-of-state libraries via OCLC more than double the number of materials it requests. Use of national computerized bibliographic and legal databases also increased dramatically in the biennium. The growth of these activities indicates that Vermont libraries made great strides to insure that all residents have access to books and information at least at the same level as their urban and suburban counterparts.

THE ECONOMY

During the FY89-90 biennium it became apparent that the economy was rapidly slowing down and funding for library programs would be impacted by that slowdown. All Department programs were analyzed for effectiveness, currency, impact of technological change, and cost. While use of most services increased extensive analysis showed decreasing use of film. The decision was therefore made to phase out Audio-Visual Services as we knew them in past years.

We started the biennium noting that DOL was buying more and more video and fewer and fewer films. By the end of the period decreasing funds and the onslaught of the video revolution forced us to say good-bye to film and AVSU as a separate service. Audio-visual materials would continue to be circulated with no special handling but in the same manner as books.

BOOKS?

Yes, we continued to "do" books, too. Circulation was the highest ever in FY90. The department continued to reassess its internal collection development and revised its own Materials Selection Policy which was approved by the Board of Libraries in June, 1990. The staff participated in reviewing materials for VLA and for the public on WCAX-TV and in developing reading and discussion programs with the Vermont Reading Project.

Looking forward to 1991 and Vermont's bicentennial of statehood inspired many activities in Vermont libraries. The State Librarian serves on the Vermont Statehood Bicentennial Commission and both the department and libraries have been heavily involved in program planning. In FY89-90, a reading and discussion series on Ethan Allen was carried out in 50 libraries in cooperation with the Vermont Reading Project and the Vermont Council on the Humanities. The Secession Debates - "Should Vermont Secede From the Union" were held in six locations. Planning and publication of the summer, 1990, Reading Program, "Celebrate Vermont," were also completed during FY90.

The Department and its staff furthered the cause of reading and information services in Vermont not only through ongoing services but also by participating in state, regional, and national library efforts. In FY90, the department received a grant from the National Commission on Library and Information Services to sponsor a pre-White House Conference state activity. With the funds, "Drowning in Information, or Riding the Wave of the Future?" a three-part reading/discussion series on reading and the impact of technology on information access for 20 sites in FY91.

The staff also actively participated in activities of the Vermont Library Association, the New England Library Association, the American Library Association, the American Association of Law Librarians, and the Chief Officers of State Library Agencies. The State Librarian also served as a member of the Vermont Historical Society and the Vermont Council on the Humanities. The department continued to participate fully in OCLC, Inc., NELINET (New England Library Information Network) and COSLINE (Chief Officers of Library Agencies in the Northeast). All of these important activities bring new knowledge, skills, and services to Vermont libraries.

CONSTRUCTIVE CHANGE

Despite the beginnings of an economic downturn the recently completed biennium brought constructive changes to the Vermont library and information community. Vermont faced the challenges of information technology and libraries of all sizes and types actively participated in implementation of library automation. We are pleased that the innovative design of VALS won national recognition but, more importantly, that it continued to expand Vermonters' access to basic library services without major disruption.

I would like to thank Governor Madeleine Kunin and the Vermont General Assembly for the high level of support they have given the department in the implementation of technology and new initiatives. I would also like to commend the Vermont Board of Libraries under the leadership of Sylvia Robison and Al Morgan for their ongoing support and creativity in facing the challenges of declining revenues, new technology, and new initiatives as well as facing long standing problems. The key to the significant success in the past two years has been the flexibility, the caring, and the cooperative attitude of the dedicated department staff.

The incredible evolution in library service delivery would not have been possible without the dedication of local librarians and trustees who faced technology with open minds and an eagerness to learn new skills. The Vermont library community has shown enthusiasm, flexibility, and commitment to working together in facing the complex challenges presented by an ever-changing and growing information society.

Thank you to all Vermonters and others who have given time to make Vermont library programs and services move forward. I now look ahead to working with you to meeting challenges as they develop in our complex world. It takes the interest and support of each and everyone of you to make innovation and creativity work successfully.

STATISTICS OF LOCAL LIBRARIES

Explanatory Notes

Public library statistics have been separated from those of other types of libraries (academic, special, hospital, school, institutional, etc.). Generally, public libraries are arranged in broad population categories, and then by town with village libraries included under the incorporated town name. As this Biennial Report went to press, only preliminary 1990 census information was available; some village populations which had been reported in the past were not yet available. The population categories are:

PUBLIC LIBRARIES SERVING OVER 5,000 POPULATION
PUBLIC LIBRARIES SERVING 2,501-5,000 POPULATION
PUBLIC LIBRARIES SERVING 1,000-2,500 POPULATION
PUBLIC LIBRARIES SERVING UNDER 1,000 POPULATION
PUBLIC LIBRARIES SERVING UNDETERMINED POPULATIONS - generally those in incorporated villages whose populations are not yet available

Statistics are supplied by local libraries for the fiscal year ending before November 30, 1990. Many libraries' statistics are for the year ending December 31, 1989. A zero (0) in a given column usually means that the actual number is "0," and a blank usually means that the information was not collected or supplied. For each population category there are four charts with the following information:

1. General information: town name, library name, population served (sometimes including populations of more than one municipal entity), whether the library meets the "Minimum Standards for Vermont Public Libraries" in 1991, and the number of hours open to the public in winter.

2. Services: volumes (books) owned, the last fiscal year's total circulation of all library materials, average weekly attendance (the number of people who visit in a typical week), interlibrary loans received from other libraries in the past year, and the number of registered borrowers (adults and children; in many cases records are not kept).

3. Income: the 1990 grand list (property tax valuation of the town as a whole), local tax support in the last fiscal year (may include in-kind support such as rent, heat, etc.), total income (including gifts, trust income, grant funds, tax support, local fundraising, etc.), and per capital tax support (tax support divided by population served; because the census figures are preliminary, this amount may not be exact).

4. Expenses: expenditures during the last fiscal year on the library's collection (books, periodicals, audio-visual materials, but not supplies or equipment), salaries (but not including employee benefits or social security), total expenditures (in some cases overhead provided in-kind is not included; capital expenses are not included), and collection expenditure per capita (collection expenditure divided by preliminary 1990 population served).

There are a number of lists following the charts of public library statistics:

VERMONT TOWNS WITHOUT PUBLIC LIBRARIES - lists town name, 1990 grand list, and some additional information
PUBLIC LIBRARIES THAT SERVE MORE THAN ONE TOWN
PUBLIC LIBRARIES WITH MORE THAN ONE SERVICE OUTLET
PUBLIC LIBRARIES THAT ARE PHYSICALLY ACCESSIBLE TO PEOPLE WITH DISABILITIES

VERMONT LIBRARY DIRECTORY, 1991

Resource sharing underlies all Vermont library service. This directory, an interlibrary loan and communications tool, is meant to further communication on many levels among librarians of all types of libraries and public library trustees. All 476 libraries that participate in the Vermont Resource Sharing Network are included - all of the state's public, academic, institutional, and special libraries, as well as many public and private school libraries.

This directory updates the VERMONT LIBRARY DIRECTORY, 1989, which was included in the BIENNIAL REPORT OF THE VERMONT DEPARTMENT OF LIBRARIES, 1986-88. It is not necessary to keep any previous directory of Vermont libraries, but the statistics found in past biennial reports may be useful for future comparison. Corrections, additions, and deletions will be published regularly in the Department of Libraries NEWS.

New Libraries. More school libraries began contributing to the Vermont Union Catalog in the 1988-90 biennium and are, thus, included in this DIRECTORY. The following other libraries have also been added:

BURLINGTON--Brautigan Library
DANVILLE--American Society of Dowsers
East Berkshire (BERKSHIRE)--Hilton Marcy Memorial
HUBBARDTON--Community
North Clarendon (CLARENDON)--Bailey Memorial
North Danville (DANVILLE)--Brainard Memorial
NORWICH--Montshire Museum
Proctorsville (CAVENDISH)--Cavendish-Fletcher Community
(combined school and two public library branches)
White River Junction (HARTFORD)--National Center for Post-traumatic Stress Disorder
WINOOSKI-- Vermont Student Assistance Corp.

Libraries that have closed. Libraries listed in VERMONT LIBRARY DIRECTORY, 1989, but not included in this edition are:

Burke Hollow--Burrington
CAVENDISH--Fletcher Town
East Ryegate--Whitehill
Proctorsville--Branch of Fletcher Town

THIS DIRECTORY IS ARRANGED ALPHABETICALLY BY THE TOWNSHIP IN WHICH THE LIBRARY IS PHYSICALLY LOCATED. Town names are listed in upper case letters which villages within those towns are in upper and lower case letters (e.g., ARLINGTON and East Arlington). The authority used to determined what is a township is the VERMONT YEARBOOK (National Survey, Chester, VT). A library's mailing address may be completely different from its physical location (e.g., the Northwest Regional Library is physically located in GEORGIA and is listed under GEORGIA even though its mailing address is Fairfax). Cross references are provided.

If there is more than one library located in a town, THE PUBLIC LIBRARY (or libraries) IS LISTED FIRST, followed by other libraries arranged alphabetically by institution.

Following is a sample listing with the explanation of each entry:

Each entry includes the following:

DIRECTORY NUMBER - will be used by the Department of Libraries NEWS when listing changes.

TOWNSHIP - in upper case letters.

NAME & ADDRESS - the word "library" has been dropped from the end of each library's name. The mailing address follows the name, and if the post office is the same as the township, it has also been dropped.

VUC SYMBOL - the Vermont Union Catalog symbol, a short form notation on catalog cards supplied by libraries to the VUC and in communication dealing with interlibrayr loan and resource sharing.

HOURS - generally, these apply year-round unless summer hours (usually corresponding with the school calendar) are noted. Call the library for specific dates of change between winter and summer hours.

TELEPHONE NO. - unless otherwise noted, the area code is 802.

USERNAME - used by libraries dialing into the Vermont Automated Library System (VALS)

LIBRARIAN/HOME TELEPHONE NO. - if a telephone number is given, it is usually the library's personal home number and should be used with discretion.

REGION - refers to the Department of Libraries region in which the library is located: Midstate (M), Northeast (NE), Northwest (NW), Southeast (SE), Southwest (SW).

TRUSTEE/HOME TELEPHONE NO. - if given, the name of the last reported chairperson or president of a public library board of trustees.
